

An apostrophe takes the place of the letter or letters that are left out of a contraction.

Possessive pronouns do not have an apostrophe...such as their, your, and its.

Possessive pronouns tell who or what has or owns something.

Possessive pronouns - their your its Contractions - they're you're it's

Circle the correct word to finish each sentence, and write the word on the line.

1. (They're, Their) going to Mike and Kim's birthday party. _____
2. (It's, Its) going to be a great party. _____
3. (You're, Your) invited to go, too. _____
4. (They're, Their) party will be so much fun! _____
5. I think (it's, its) theme will be "Fun at the Circus." _____
6. (You're, your) favorite part will be the games. _____
7. I know (they're, their) prizes will be awesome. _____
8. Can you go when (you're, your) game is finished? _____
9. (It's, Its) going to be so much fun! _____